The surveyor-general has approved mineral survey No. 3208, Snap Shot lode mining claim, L. A. Ladd, claimant, situated in the Summit mining district, Gila county, Arizona. Also mineral survey No. 3236, Belgium and The Allies lode mining claims, situated in the Warren mining district, Cochise county, Arizona, and owned by Joseph Waters.

Some time ago the United States Geological Survey issued a bulletin giving in detail the exterior boundaries of the great copper belt of the United States, which shows its trend from Cananea to Ely, taking in Morenci, Bisbee, Jerome and other great camps of Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada. In the plat map of the copper fields, Mohave county occupies a central position, which fact does not appear to be generally known.

Kingman has a new court house, the best in the state; electric lights, sewer and an abundance of water at a shallow; a power plant furnishing power to outlying mines; modern mercantile institutions and two banks. One hundred and sixty thousand dollars worth of county bonds have just been disposed of, which will be used for a new high school building and one hundred thousand dollars for the use of public roads in the county. The most of this amount will be used for building a boulevard from Kingman to Oatman.—Miner.

One of the men who is watching with the greatest interest the struggle along the border between the Carranza and the Villa forces is H. B. Merriwether, formerly a photographer in Globe and Miami, now president of the Merriwether Mexican Gold Mining company. For Merriwether, who has been known all of the way from Havana to Alaska as a mining photographer, claims to have found in the Altar, Sonora district, the country where the Quenner crusher were being largely operated by prospectors and small mine-owners at the time of the outbreak of the revolution south of the Rio Grande, rich antiquities which have been worked by the natives for over 300 years.—Silver Belt.

Canille Deputy Sheriff Visits N. Y.
A press dispatch one day last week dated New York says:
"A little breath of the west swept into the big lobby of the Hotel McAlpin yesterday when the deputy sheriff of Canille, Santa Cruz County, Arizona, dropped in to pay a visit to New York. It was a sheriff in sombrero, riding boots, gauntlets and riding skirt—Mrs. Lucretia Roberts, who can ride all day, rope a steer, catch horse thieves and shoot the head off a rattlesnake."

"And to those accomplishments Sheriff Roberts adds the gifts of business woman, for she is here to raise funds to start a sanitarium and sell stock in a mine, her mine.
"No sooner had the sheriff taken a good look around town than she said she wouldn't stay here if some one gave her the Singer building, because the town is too noisy and hasn't enough sun.
"The deputy sheriff from Canille is a widow and owns 160 acres, 250 head of cattle and ten horses—not forgetting the mine. She also has a notebook of newspaper clippings. One is about how she and another deputy, Harry Rafferty, chased a Mexican through a whole county.
"And," said Rafferty when he got back, "if anyone thinks our Canille sheriff can be equalled on a long ride, just let them follow her and they'll have another think."

Chief Making Good Showing.
There is great activity at the Chief mine. In opening a new station at 65 feet from the collar of the shaft several bunches of high grade ore were encountered and a crosscut through the vein matter to the footwall exposed several streaks of good ore, with a tendency of the vein to widen northeasterly towards the World's Fair mine adjoining, which, no doubt, is the same vein, judging from indications in strike, dip and character of ore. Grab samples have assayed well in copper, silver and little gold, the silver predominating. The vein shows a width of 12 feet, in a banded structure with no wall yet in sight, and C. H. Hoffman, engineer in charge, believes he will encounter better values on the footwall, from indications in the heavily iron and manganese stained croppings that are exposed on the surface. As soon as the crosscut has been driven through the vein, drifts will be driven both ways, following the ore.—Patagonian.

ARMY OFFICERS HONORED.

Generals Funston and Obregon Guests at Banquet and Reception.

At the informal spread tendered the principal officer of the United States and Mexican armies now in Nogales, Captain L. W. Mix, as toastmaster, in a few well-chosen and appropriate words in honor of the distinguished guests present, introduced C. E. Hardy, who, in his usual happy style, delivered an address of welcome, which was replied to by Major General Funston, who expressed, in behalf of himself and brother officers, their thanks and appreciation for the many courtesies extended them by the people of Nogales. Hon. W. A. O'Connor was the next speaker and delivered an eulogium of Major General Funston, summarizing his army career and many services to the honor and material benefit of our country.

Just before Judge O'Connor spoke, General Obregon made a few remarks—in Spanish—expressing his satisfaction at the feeling of general cordiality being manifested between the American and Mexican people along the border wherever he has been, and declaring his intention, and that of the government to which he belonged, to preserve and foster this good feeling in every way.

Colonel Wm. H. Sage made an unusually fine speech, touching upon the international episode that took place at Nogales last week, which he justly designated as "the first case of deliberate, malicious firing across the line."

Mayor Ryan, Intelligence Officer of the United States Army at Douglas, Arizona, addressed a few remarks to those present, and Messrs. Bracey Curtis, E. A. Titcomb and F. J. Barry also delivered a few well-chosen words.

Mr. W. M. Kibbey, Jr., is said to have talked longer and more than any other guest present, which is explained, however, by the fact that he acted as interpreter for the occasion and most ably translated, from Spanish to English, and vice versa, all speeches made.

The reception at the Santa Cruz Club, immediately after the supper, was well attended and a credit to all concerned.

The banquet at Lulley's was attended by the following:

Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston, Brig. Gen. George Bell, Jr., Gen. Alvaro Obregon, Mexican Federal Army; Lieut. Col. J. M. Garza, chief of staff; Col. Wm. H. Sage of the 12th Infantry; Col. Frank B. Jones of the 7th Infantry; Col. W. C. Brown of the 1st Cavalry; Col. Harry C. Hale of the 20th Infantry; Lieut. Wm. L. Kenley of the 6th Artillery and Lieut. Col. DeR. C. Cavell of the 10th Cavalry; U. S. Consul Frederick Simpich, Mayor L. W. Mix, Customs Collector C. E. Hardy, W. E. Kibbey, Jr., Bracey Curtis, Wm. A. O'Connor, E. A. Titcomb, E. K. Cumming, F. J. Barry, F. J. Duffy and H. J. Temple.—Herald.

COME BACK.

Copper, Curb and Mining Outlook, of New York, says:

Probably no more sure-footed and gratifying come-back has been recorded in the annals of Boston copper mines than that of Arizona Commercial under the management of President Chas. S. Smith, of the Old Dominion.

N. L. Amster, former president of Arizona Commercial, also is coming back rapidly after his difficulties and will be a bigger man than ever. The position he took in Rock Island is favorably commented on in Boston and New York. It led to the proposal to nominate a get-together set of directors of which William B. Thompson and Chas. Hayden, other copper men, also, as it happens, pioneers with Mr. Amster in Channon Copper, are connected. Mr. Amster is said to have a zinc property now which is paying him $50,000 a month.

Improvements in Patagonia District.

There has been a great deal of building and improvement work done during 1915 in Santa Cruz county, much of which has been done at Patagonia and the sections nearby. Following is the list of houses built:

Clyde McPherson, San Rafael.
G. W. Parker, San Rafael.
Jesse Gatlin, near Patagonia.
A. A. Bush, Greaterville.
J. L. Thigpen, Sonoita.
G. L. Everhart, Elgin.
John Hoy, Harshaw.
Paul Schiller, near Duquesne.
W. O. Ladd, Elgin.
A. H. Glidewell, Patagonia.
T. G. Dunham, San Rafael.
Arthur Wilson, San Rafael.
G. N. Curtis, San Rafael.
R. N. Keaton, San Rafael.
H. F. Sprung, barn, Sonoita.
Santa Cruz County Fair Association, fair buildings, Sonoita.
The following houses were remodelled:

E. C. Best, near Patagonia.
Pete Bergier, near Patagonia.
O. F. Ashburn, Patagonia.
A. A. Gatlin, Temporal Ranch, near Patagonia.
Richard Farrell, Harshaw.
Mrs. Anna H. Fortune, near Patagonia.

W. J. Russell, Parker Canyon.
C. B. Wilson, Patagonia, public garage and repair shop.

Col. R. R. Richardson has had many improvements made on his properties, a great deal of work being done on his property north of town. His West McEwen Ave. tenant house presents a fine appearance after being remodeled.

The outlook for further improvements is very favorable, according to J. W. Miller of the Patagonia Lumber Company, who has given estimates on a number of prospective improvements.—Patagonian.
